

Dancing Every Day
Ron Warren

Our Prophets saw it long ago, read it in the stars
They warned us of the times ahead, of the misery and scars
Said if we hold out to the end, the vic'try will be ours

All their life was a sun dance, dancing every day
All their life was a sun dance, dancing every day.

It started out on Boricua, they said they wanted gold,
Said they loved us, said their god would save us, that's what we were told,
Then they set their dogs and guns and cannons on the young and old

All our life was a sun dance, dancing every day,
All our life was a sun dance, dancing every day.

Sand Creek, Yahoo Falls, Wounded Knee to name a few,
You give them land, fly a flag of truce, doesn't matter what you do.
They rode us down, left us on the ground, women and children, too.

All our life was a sun dance, dancing every day
All our life was a sun dance, dancing every day.

Hi go ti s go na a s ka ya, do you see that man?
Could be my brother, could be your father, they take them when they can
They locked him up knowing it was a lie, guess it helped to calm their fears,
Now he's serving time for another man's crime, losing all these years.

All his life is a sun dance, dancing every day,
All his life is a sun dance, dancing every day.

Listen sister, hear me brother, the struggle is not done,
If we stay on the path and stick together, the vic'try will be won.
Then we'll join our hands and feel the drums and greet the rising Sun.

All our life is a sun dance, dancing every day,
All our life is a sun dance, dancing every day.
